Gemological info: Zircon is a mineral belonging to the group of nesosilicates. It is the source of zirconium oxide, one of the most refractory materials known. Zircon is often confused with Cubic Zirconia. Cubic Zirconia, a synthetic, inexpensive Diamond simulant, resembles colorless Zircon and has a similar sounding name. However, the two are totally separate materials, and have no connection with each other.

Metaphysical Properties: Zircon is a stone of purity and innocence. It balances the emotions and enhances self esteem and unity. It was used as an amulet by travellers to protect against accident and injury on the journey. It was also used to stop the wearer from being struck by lightning. Hindi poets tell of the Kalpa Tree, the ultimate gift to the gods, which was a glowing tree covered with gemstone fruit with leaves of zircon. In the middle ages, zircon was said to aid sleep, bring prosperity, and promote honor and wisdom in its owner.

Astrological sign: Scorpio

---

Gemological info: Zircon is a mineral belonging to the group of nesosilicates. It is the source of zirconium oxide, one of the most refractory materials known. Zircon is often confused with Cubic Zirconia. Cubic Zirconia, a synthetic, inexpensive Diamond simulant, resembles colorless Zircon and has a similar sounding name. However, the two are totally separate materials, and have no connection with each other.

Metaphysical Properties: Zircon is a stone of purity and innocence. It balances the emotions and enhances self esteem and unity. It was used as an amulet by travellers to protect against accident and injury on the journey. It was also used to stop the wearer from being struck by lightning. Hindi poets tell of the Kalpa Tree, the ultimate gift to the gods, which was a glowing tree covered with gemstone fruit with leaves of zircon. In the middle ages, zircon was said to aid sleep, bring prosperity, and promote honor and wisdom in its owner.

Astrological sign: Scorpio

---

Gemological info: Zircon is a mineral belonging to the group of nesosilicates. It is the source of zirconium oxide, one of the most refractory materials known. Zircon is often confused with Cubic Zirconia. Cubic Zirconia, a synthetic, inexpensive Diamond simulant, resembles colorless Zircon and has a similar sounding name. However, the two are totally separate materials, and have no connection with each other.

Metaphysical Properties: Zircon is a stone of purity and innocence. It balances the emotions and enhances self esteem and unity. It was used as an amulet by travellers to protect against accident and injury on the journey. It was also used to stop the wearer from being struck by lightning. Hindi poets tell of the Kalpa Tree, the ultimate gift to the gods, which was a glowing tree covered with gemstone fruit with leaves of zircon. In the middle ages, zircon was said to aid sleep, bring prosperity, and promote honor and wisdom in its owner.

Astrological sign: Scorpio

---

Gemological info: Zircon is a mineral belonging to the group of nesosilicates. It is the source of zirconium oxide, one of the most refractory materials known. Zircon is often confused with Cubic Zirconia. Cubic Zirconia, a synthetic, inexpensive Diamond simulant, resembles colorless Zircon and has a similar sounding name. However, the two are totally separate materials, and have no connection with each other.

Metaphysical Properties: Zircon is a stone of purity and innocence. It balances the emotions and enhances self esteem and unity. It was used as an amulet by travellers to protect against accident and injury on the journey. It was also used to stop the wearer from being struck by lightning. Hindi poets tell of the Kalpa Tree, the ultimate gift to the gods, which was a glowing tree covered with gemstone fruit with leaves of zircon. In the middle ages, zircon was said to aid sleep, bring prosperity, and promote honor and wisdom in its owner.

Astrological sign: Scorpio

---

Gemological info: Zircon is a mineral belonging to the group of nesosilicates. It is the source of zirconium oxide, one of the most refractory materials known. Zircon is often confused with Cubic Zirconia. Cubic Zirconia, a synthetic, inexpensive Diamond simulant, resembles colorless Zircon and has a similar sounding name. However, the two are totally separate materials, and have no connection with each other.

Metaphysical Properties: Zircon is a stone of purity and innocence. It balances the emotions and enhances self esteem and unity. It was used as an amulet by travellers to protect against accident and injury on the journey. It was also used to stop the wearer from being struck by lightning. Hindi poets tell of the Kalpa Tree, the ultimate gift to the gods, which was a glowing tree covered with gemstone fruit with leaves of zircon. In the middle ages, zircon was said to aid sleep, bring prosperity, and promote honor and wisdom in its owner.

Astrological sign: Scorpio